NEMESIS IN MASSACHUSETTS.

A few months ago, when the Boston papers were complacently talking about the commanding influence which Massachusetts must exert in the Republican National Convention, we suggested that instead of assuming for that State a special mission to regulate the politics of the whole country, its Republicans might find more sensible employment in looking after the politics of Massachusetts itself. Col. Ingersoll also uttered some trenchant words of counsel at Cincinnati which were not only appropriate as a rebuke to officious pretension, but which our Bay State neighbors would have done well to heed with as much care as they were bestowing upon the country at large. Well, the Massachusetts people have persisted in devoting themselves to a study of their importance in the Republican party of the Union, with a neglect of their local politics that has resulted in complications which they are now beginning to recognize.

The nomination of Butler and the bolt against him, headed by Judge Hoar are incidents of a condition of things resulting naturally from the namby-pambyism, insincerity and inefficiency of the self-appointed Republican leaders in that State. For a year or two past, and until within a very few months, the dilettante politicians of Boston and the newspaper exponents of the bidders for Southern trade have been trying to browbeat an intelligent people into the conviction that the rebel elements of the South are thoroughly peaceable, patriotic and trustworthy citizens, and that it would perfectly reasonable, just and proper to hand the government of the Nation over to the full control of the very men who, within a dozen years, were leading armies in the field against it, or plotting for its destruction. The nonsensical gushing over the junketing trips of ex-Confederate militia companies to Boston, was proclaimed far and wide as having solved all doubts and difficulties, and as demonstrating the propriety of reviving the Confederate Government in Washington. For months and months the Boston press teemed with adulation of followers of the "lost cause," while the cries of outraged citizenship in the South were unheeded or ridiculed with the epithet "bloody shirt," and the bumpers to Fitz-Hugh Lee and his comrades in Gray were filled to the brim.

The earnest, patriotic people of Massachusetts did not believe in this mockery, but the political atmosphere was so impregnated with false sentimentality that the majority repressed their honest feeling of disgust. Early in the session of Congress there proved to be one man who was willing to take the hazard of puncturing the bubble of hypocrisy, and exposing to the country the peril which secretly confronted it. That man was J. G. Blaine, and in snatching the mask of Democracy from the hideous face of Treason," he aroused the loyal masses of the whole Union to the true nature of the desperate contest in which we are now engaged.

His heroic championship of the principles for which our soldiers fought, met an enthusiastic endorsement by the people of Massachusetts as in other loyal States. But the self-delegated political mentors in that State had just at that time undertaken to dictate the action of the National party and had a special protege in training. They decided that the questions of keeping the Government in loyal hands, of protecting the rights and lives of citizens, of maintaining the results of a long, costly, and bloody strife, were unimportant; but that the great Republican party must go into a National campaign with no platform except an indorsement of Mr. Bristow's peculiar prosecution of frauds in the collection of the whiskey taxes. With the aid of obsequious newspapers and an abundance of self-assertion they carried their point against a conceded majority in Convention, and sent Richard H. Dana to misrepresent and humiliate Massachusetts at Cincinnati.

From that time the popular spirit became more and most restless under the domination of men with neither title nor ability of leadership. With the inevitable reaction the pendulum swung as far the other way, and the nomination of Benjamin F. Butler for Congress, a thing which under other circumstances would have been impossible, became not only possible but popular. Had the politics of Massachusetts been sincerely and manfully conducted; had the leadership been vested in men in sympathy with the masses of the people; had the grave issues of the day been squarely presented, instead of pandering to the ambition of a little coterie bent only on exaggerating the importance and securing the Presidential nomination of one whom they had deigned to select as their favorite, the nomination of General Butler would never have been made. His success is due solely to the revulsion of public feeling against the namby-pambyism that has so fully pervaded the politics of the State. Butler unquestionably owes his nomination to a popular feeling that with regard to the maintenance of loyal supremacy, the protection of the rights of the colored race and the characterization of disloyalty and Southern arrogance "there is no nonsense about him." The very fact that his nomination was so strongly supported by a constituency differing with him seriously on questions of financial and other policy, shows the predominance of the National issue in the public mind, in spite of the efforts made to hide it with soft phrases and unmerited appeals to an already over-taxed magnanimity.

Well, Gen. Butler was nominated. It is unnecessary to inform our readers that he is not a man whom we should have selected to represent a Republican District in Congress. Our disapproval of his methods and manner has been too frequently and emphatically expressed to need repetition. But we have neither responsibility nor right in the matter, which is one solely for the people who are to choose a representative for their own District. If a majority of the people of that District desire to send Mr. Butler to Congress it is their privilege to do so, as it was the privilege of a majority of the Republicans to nominate him if they wished. So far as we can learn from the papers in the District, many of which have been intensely opposed to Butler, his nomination seems to have come easily and to have been generally acquiesced in. The evidence that it is not entirely so is afforded by the inauguration of a bolt under the lead of Judge Hoar. How much of a popular basis this movement may have, or whether it is simply an expression of resentment by the coterie of managers who lost control by failing to meet the public exigencies, we have no present means of deciding. The developments of the canvass must show that. It appears significant, however, in view of the past year's phases of Massachusetts politics, that the Journal, in commending Judge Hoar as a candidate, deems it important to give the special assurance that "he can bring as heavy guns as Gen. Butler to bear on the ex-Confederates of the House, and that too, without any recoils of indiscretion to hurt his own party more than his foes." That is certainly a good recommendation at this time, and as between the two men we should of course prefer to have Judge Hoar as a Republican member of Congress. But just here the question arises whether the contest is to be between Messrs. Butler and Hoar, or between Butler and Tarbox with the Hoar movement as a practical assistance. In the latter case our sympathies would be decidedly with the supporters of Butler, with all his faults. For in addition to his thorough subserviency to the Confederate whippers-in Tarbox is a far more obnoxious demagogue than Butler, in every sense of the word. His natural meanness was illustrated by his misappropriation of the stolen copy of Mr. Blaine's speech, and his utter hypocrisy is shown by his abject surrender to the Bourbons after soliciting and obtaining votes upon his assurance that he would be fearless and independent in opposing the reactionary elements of his party. A prominent Republican who has hitherto opposed Butler and who bolted the party ticket two years ago to vote for Tarbox, recently published a letter giving his reasons for supporting Butler this year, in which he referred to the political dishonesty of Tarbox as follows:

> I had while hesitating what course to pursue met Mr. Tarbox by appointment, and he had not only grossly misrepresented his own position, but had told me specific falsehoods, one of which was that in case his party should nominate Fernando Wood or any other Bourbon as Speaker, he would unhesitatingly vote for the Republican nominee.
> In fine his self-portraiture was such that at the close of the interview I remarked that it surprised me to see so good a Republican standing as a Democratic candidate. To which he replied that he was born and reared in the Democratic fold, and as it was very painful to tear asunder the associations of a life time, he preferred though differing essentially from his party on all the leading questions of the day, to exercise his influence in mitigating its errors rather than to assume an attitude of open antagonism. In this there is no violation of confidence, as I cautioned him at the commencement of our interview that I wished him to say nothing a confidential character.
> You know the sequel. I will not soil this sheet with the only epithets suited to the occasion. So much for the Tarbox side of the question.

With the issues now pending very few Republicans will wish to aid the election of a Democrat of that stamp, even when the alternative is the election of Gen. Butler whom they may strongly dislike. The Journal recognizes this when it says. "If Judge Hoar, indeed, is to have only a nominal, nerveless, lifeless support, the issue had better not have been made." And it further remarks that "so long as it is generally understood that the contest lies between Gen. Butler and Mr. Tarbox many a Republican, however much he may agree with Judge Hoar, will feel bound to prefer Butler to a regular Democrat." The gist of the matter is that if Judge Hoar's movement commands a support that will elect him, his campaign will be justified by a success showing that it represents the Republicans of the District; while if he simply succeeds in defeating Butler and electing Tarbox the laurels thus gained will be likely to soon wither.

We will watch the developments with all the interest that the election of a single Congressman can excite, but our Massachusetts friends will repeat one of their characteristic mistakes if they attempt to convince the country that all other National and State issues are overshadowed by a contest in one of their Congressional Districts. In "fighting Ben Butler" it may not be safe to forget that there is a Democratic party in Massachusetts that is experienced in turning Republican dissension to account, and that is now unusually vigilant and industrious.

We repeat that Gen. Butler owes his nomination to the fact that those who have recently assumed to direct the Republican policy of the State have conspicuously and inexcusably failed to recognize the vital issues of the National canvass or to afford expression to the earnest sentiments of the people. The Nemesis of phariseeism and mismanagement has been fairly invited, and they who were of late so gratuitously proposing to run the whole National Republican party from a club room in School street, need feel no surprise that outsiders very calmly observe the complications of their own neglected affairs. Had our neighbors been less intent upon controlling a Presidential nomination in which the Republicans of thirty-seven other States were equally interested, and had they devoted more care to the nominations in their own State, they would have less controversy and more Republican energy in this Centennial Campaign.

A FLIMSY ROORBACK.

Mr. Tilden's Literary Bureau has attempted a sensation by procuring the simultaneous publication in various newspapers of a campaign document charging Gov. Hayes with affiliation with the "American Alliance," an order which is said to favor limiting suffrage to persons born in this country or of American parents, and the election of American-born citizens only to official positions. It is intended to influence naturalized voters, but the thing is too flimsy. The whole allegation is that a meeting of this order indorsed the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler and sent copies of the resolutions of indorsement to Gov. Hayes, and that his private Secretary acknowledged their receipt and formally expressed the Governor's gratitude for "the expression of confidence." Gov. Hayes is not expected to rebuff the courtesies or refuse the support of every body of his fellow-citizens with all of whose views he may not coincide; nor does a courteous recognition of such offer of political support carry indorsement of all the opinions of the supporters. As a matter of fact Governor Hayes has emphatically declared himself opposed to any policy of proscription against those who come hither to adopt our citizenship and bear true allegiance to the Government. As a sensation Mr. Tilden's last effort will prove a dead failure.

"TURN-TABLE" FIGURING.

During Wednesday the political mathematician of Central-st. employed himself in demonstrating to Democrats in search of consolation that Colorado must have gone Democratic although the only reports received stated just the contrary. As soon as the mathematical victory was Demonstrated to a small and admiring circle its members would start out to impart the news to the public and in this way we were informed several times during the day that our contemporary had figured the thing out beyond a question. The basis of this figuring was a despatch published by us Wednesday morning announcing a Republican victory and giving the relative gains in ten counties heard from. To the ordinary observer these counties showed a Republican gain more than offsetting the whole Democratic majority of two years ago, but our gifted contemporary was not to be deterred by trifles and after a desperate struggle with the figures he announced that he had mastered them and secured Colorado for the Democrats. When this mathematical feat was reported to us we were inclined to incredulity, but one of the implicit believers in the organ assured us that the Commercial man had said so and that he was "remarkably correct in calculations."

We did not examine his process at the time but yesterday we indulged a mild curiosity to inspect the method by which very heavy Republican gains could be figured out of existence. In the Commercial's "remarkably correct" figuring we found that it stated the total vote in the ten counties reported as 9,523, when it was really 10,570, a discrepancy of more than one thousand. It then stated that the remaining counties cast in all 6,880 votes in 1874 with a Democratic majority of 1,374, and hence that the Republicans must gain "nearly 1,400 votes" in those counties to win. The total vote in those counties was really 5,983 and the Democratic majority but 843, or less than two-thirds of that stated by the Commercial. It will be perceived that with such license and latitude in the use of figures it is not so difficult to manufacture a Democratic victory out of nothing. And the "remarkable" correctness of our contemporary's calculation appears in the fact that nearly every figure was erroneous.

As a further illustration of the absolute dishonesty of that bulletin claiming a Democratic victory in Colorado as reported by the latest news, we cite the fact that while the New York Evening Post of Wednesday, printed dispatches direct from Colorado in its second edition, it at once recognized the staleness of the Chicago telegram which only arrived in time for the fourth edition, and so stated in brackets as follows:

[The dispatch to the Chicago Times of this morning is not so late news as the despatches printed in our Second Edition.—Eds. Evening Post.]

SOLDIERS AS CITIZENS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune]

The Union Soldiers' and Sailors' Reform Association have issued an address to their former comrades, advising them to vote for Tilden and Hendricks. They charge the supporters of Gov. Hayes with "a desire to rekindle the old war feeling of animosity," and they accuse the Grand Army of the Republic most unjustly, and we must say most unfraternally, with permitting itself "to be made to subserve the purposes of engendering sectional strife and perpetuating Radical Republican misrule." This is a serious indictment. The author of this address must have known that old soldiers have had reasons in past years for not voting with the Democrats, or at least for not supporting a good many Democratic candidates. Considering the facts of history, the veteran has reasons also for distrusting Gov. Tilden, either personally or as the representative of the Democratic party. But we put this point for the present out of the discussion. There are other considerations which are more pertinent and timely.

It appears to us that these members of the Union Soldiers' and Sailors' Reform Association are doing the very thing which they deprecate in others. The true way, according to the theory of these gentlemen, would be to have no such association at all; and so, to prove how sincere they are in their opinions, they immediately form one of the kind, and make "Fighting General" Joe Hooker the President thereof. When men tell us that a particular kind of political organization is dangerous, and at the same moment proceed to form a political organization of precisely that kind, though we may try to respect their motives, it will be hard work to respect their intelligence. The brave veterans of the "Reform Association" should have forgotten that they were ever soldiers and should quietly have become absorbed by the Democratic party, with "O no, we'll never mention it!" as their last distinct and personal utterance. Instead of this, as soldiers of the Union, they form a society, and then expect everybody to forget that the Union has ever been in danger!

What the Reform Association may properly do, the G. A. R. may properly do. They have their own opinion of the candidates, considered in the light of the past and of the present. Nobody, it seems to us, has drained the cup of Lethe—so far as our own observation goes, it is a very remembering time.

INDIANA.

The Boston Journal's Washington special, dated Wednesday evening, says:

"Secretary Chandler has had advices from Indiana yesterday and to-day which are very reassuring. He says that nothing but fraud can prevent Indiana from going Republican, and he does not believe that can. Ex-Congressman Jere Wilson writes that there is no doubt of Republican success in the State."

A despatch from Hon. William E. Chandler to the Concord Monitor received Wednesday, reports that the Republican prospects in Indiana are steadily improving, and he believes we shall elect the whole State ticket next Tuesday.

The acme of insolence is reached when a rebel-sympathizing paper derisively employs the words of that glorious Union battle-song "Marching Through Georgia" as a heading to despatches announcing another mockery of the right of suffrage by the ex-Confederates in that State. The announcement of an "election" in a State of the American Union in which outrage and persecution have deterred the lawful voters of one party from attempting to make a contest, and where the majority is only a question of how much the Ku-Klux leaders choose to declare it, is enough in itself to excite the indignation of loyal citizens, without an impudent reminder that the 90,000 colored voters registered in 1867 have been practically driven from the polls by the rebels that Sherman drove before him when he went "Marching Through Georgia!"

CLAIMS ON THE TREASURY.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

In the Birmingham (Ala.) Iron Age we find the following advertisement, which, in case of a Democratic success in November, will become general at the South:

CONFEDERATE MONEY WANTED. Persons having Confederate money or bonds, if of the proper issue and denomination, can find a purchaser at fair prices by inquiring at this office.

But, besides the expected redemption of Confederate money and bonds, the great hope of the South is in the matter of claims. The South expects to be compensated for all the losses in the war. Every man who lost a dollar by the war, no matter by which army, or on which side he was engaged, proposes to ask for $10. In the State of Missouri there are claims of this kind against the United States amounting to nearly seven millions of dollars by the ex-rebels of the back counties. These claims have all been filed with the State Government, and the Confederate Legislature has certified to their justice. The State of Missouri proposes, when there is a change of administration, to present these claims in the name of the "Sovereign State" and demanded payment therefor. The State has placed its great seal upon the claims, and their validity is not to be questioned. The Democrats in Arkansas, Texas, Tennessee, Maryland, the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Florida and Kentucky, will all have their claims for compensation.

We learn that Hon. William Caldwell of Augusta, who has been connected with the State Treasury for many years, and who served as State Treasurer from 1869 to 1874, when he was retired by Constitutional limitation, will be a candidate for re-election to the office.

The table of estimates of the Presidential election prepared by the Democratic National Committee put down Colorado as "doubtful." The doubts are solved—count the first three for Hayes and Wheeler.

The following squibs are from the Indianapolis Journal:

If any young man in Indiana wants to cast his first vote for a man who can't write his name without running his tongue out, let him vote for Blue-Jeans Williams for Governor.

"General" Andy Humphreys will probably attend the Democratic soldiers' reunion. He was tried by court-martial for treasonable practices during the war, found guilty and sentenced to be hung, but his sentence was commuted. He is now running for Congress on the Tilden, Hendricks and Reform ticket.

Mr. Hendricks is progressing rapidly. When he was Senator of the United States he voted against a law to allow colored people to ride in the street-cars. In one of his recent speeches he made a great boast of having been elected an honorary member of a negro club! Verily, the world moves, and with it the leader of Indiana Democracy.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Cincinnati Gazette takes a hopeful view of the Republican canvass in Ohio. It says: "The Vallandighammers of 1876 may boast as they did in 1863, and doubting Republicans may fear and tremble, but Ohio will record a sweeping Republican victory on the 10th of October, and that victory will be made still more emphatic in November. That is what is in the air."

A correspondent of the Charleston (S. S.) News calls upon the whites to refuse to patronize any butcher who does not hoist over his stall the flag of Tilden and Hampton. He says: "The cards are in our hands; let us play them." And he signs his communication "Reform."

Gov. Dix made a very able exposure of Mr. Tilden's claims as a patriot and reformer, in a speech delivered Tuesday evening. He testified that Tilden was opposed to the war for the Union throughout. Not one word of encouragement did he utter to the Northern people; not by one deed did he exhibit attachment to the cause of the Union.

It is getting to be dangerous for Republicans to parade in Connecticut. At Gen. Hawley's New Britain meeting last Friday evening, the Boys in Blue were stoned, and the color-bearer was struck nine times. The following evening a Republican procession in Hartford was attacked with missiles of various kinds, and since then at least two more similar instances have been reported. No wonder these Democrats affiliate with the white liners of the South.

CLARION Portable Cooking Range!

Valuable improvements have been incorporated into this Range, which gives it the advantage over any other Range in the market, and all who have seen and tested it, have been disabused of the idea that the day of invention and improvement had passed.

We claim to have produced the most elegant and economical, compact, and convenient Cooking Range ever offered to the public, and we have no hesitation in saying that all who will carefully examine it will be convinced of these facts.

All in want of a new Range are invited to call and see for themselves and obtain a pamphlet containing description and the names of parties having them in use, to whom we refer.

CAMDEN, Oct. 6. The North Knox Agricultural Fair and Cattle Show was held at Appleton, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The farm products were extra good. The largest squash was grown in Union, weight, 133 lbs. The show of stock cattle just introduced into the county by Alfred Burkett, of Appleton, was especially a fine herd.

FROM WALDOBORO.

Sudden Death.

WALDOBORO, Oct. 5. Mr. George T. Overlock, of this place, about 40 years of age and unmarried, died very suddenly this forenoon. Efforts were made to restore life, but without success.

FROM EASTPORT.

The Fishing Fleet.

EASTPORT, Oct. 5. Vessels now coming in from the Bay of Fundy fishing grounds bring very small fares, and report the weather too blowy for the last three weeks to get fish.

FROM DAMARISCOTTA.

Ship Launched.

DAMARISCOTTA, Oct. 5. H. Haggett & Co. launched a fine ship of 1470 tons, this forenoon, named Josephus. She rates highest French and American Lloyds, owned by builders and Capt. Wm. Rogers, who will command her. She is intended for the California trade.

Lincoln Fair.

The 21st annual session of Lincoln Agricultural and Horticultural Society which opened in Jefferson Tuesday, closed to-day with the exception of the races, which were prevented by the storm, and will take place to-morrow. The entries were up to the average, and the display of stock very large. Attendance good.

FROM BATH.

Bark Launched.

BATH, Oct. 5. Launched to-day, by Goss & Sawyer, a fine bark of 1000 tons, named Fred Littlefield; owned by New York parties; to be commanded by Capt. S. C. Spaulding.

FROM PORTLAND.

For Savannah.

PORTLAND, Oct. 5. The yellow fever committee sent $600 more to Savannah today.

MAINE POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

The Exhibition at Waterville.

WATERVILLE, Oct. 5. The State Pomological Society's exhibition presents a magnificent display of fruits of all kinds, of flowers in great variety, and quantities of canned fruits. It is the best exhibition ever held by the Society. Androscoggin, Kennebec, Penobscot, Lincoln and Waldo counties are well represented in the fruit display.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

The Supreme Court's Labors.

BIDDEFORD, Oct. 5. The Supreme Judicial Court, September term, closed last evening. The following prisoners received sentence: Noah T. Harding, compound larceny, 3 years and 6 months in the State prison; Joseph B. Kelley, compound larceny, 2 years in the State prison; Edward W. Kelly, larceny, 2 years in the State prison; Edward F. Welch, larceny, 2 years and 6 months in the State prison; Joseph Dion, larceny, 6 months in the House of Correction; N. Morrison, common seller, $100 nd 3 months.

The York Fair.

The Y. M. C. A.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW YORK CITY.

Brandy Seized.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. Treasury agent Brackett yesterday, seized fifteen cases of brandy concealed in the firemen's stateroom, on the steamer Hamburg. The search was made under a permit issued by the German Consul as under the Bismarck treaty no German vessel can be boarded by custom house inspectors without such permit.

The Yacht Race.

The ocean race to Sandy Hook light-ship thence to Five-Fathom light-ship, off Cape May and return, for the Loubat Cup, is arranged for next Thursday. The Idler, Palmer and Atalanta have already entered. It is open to yachts of any class.

A Panic in School.

A loosened joint of steam pipe in the public school, 27 east 42nd street, this morning, caused a panic, but no more injury than a severe scalding of Miss Martin, the lady principal, and a policeman.

The Indictments against Woodward.

The arrest of Woodward in Chicago brings again to light the fact that there are four indictments in the District Attorney's office against him. Two are for forgeries on warrants, one for $44,388.38, and the other for $42,000 drawn in favor of Jno. Keyser, another member of the ring. The other two charges are for larceny in stealing the two warrants alluded to and obtaining the money on them from the bank. The statute of limitations can be of no avail in this case as the indictments were found within the time specified by statute. On the forgeries he can be sent to prison for any time between 5 and 10 years, and on the larcenies for 5 years. Wheeler H. Peckham, who procured the indictments, says he is pretty sure Woodward will go to prison for 20 years if he should be found guilty on the four indictments.

INDIANA.

The Independents.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5. At 11 o'clock tonight the Independent Central Committee nominated Judge Henry Harrington of this city for Governor, in place of Hon. Anson Wolcott, declined. They also passed resolutions denouncing Wolcott as a traitor to the Independent party and charging him with having been corrupted with Republican money. Judge Harrington has written a letter accepting the nomination. Ezra G. Hayes, the Independent candidate for Congress in the 5th district to-day also declined the race.

STRICKEN SAVANNAH.

YELLOW FEVER CASES INCREASING

DESTITUTION AND GREAT DISTRESS.

Warmer Weather and Spread of the Disease.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. An Atlanta special says the weather grows warmer and the fever is increasing. More new cases were reported yesterday than any day in two weeks. Deaths still increase proportionally as the climatic change is unfavorable. A curious fact is that there are as many interments in the Catholic cemetery as in all the other cemeteries combined, although the Catholics are in the minority in the city. The destitution is appalling. It seems impossible for relief agencies to meet it. Thousands of healthy people, especially negroes, are out of work and totally dependant on the relief committee for daily rations. The change of weather increased the interments in one day from 17 to 42. The warm weather is generally over in Georgia. There was no frost this morning for the first time in five days.

THE SOLID SOUTH.

The Result of going through the Forms in Georgia — No Opposition, No Freedmen Elected, Nothing but a Small Democrat-Vote and a Large Majority.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5. Muscogee county gives Colquitt (Dem.) 908; Norcross, (Republican) 305. State Senator Cody, (Dem.) no opposition, 849. Representative Ourtes, (Dem.) no opposition, 841; Moses, (Dem.) no opposition, 828. Chattahoochie county gives Colquitt, (Dem.) 300 majority; Representative Wooldridge, (Dem.) 280 majority.

A Queer American Election—"Virtually No Opposition."

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 5. Returns received show that Colquit, Democrat, is elected Governor by 40.000 majority, there being virtually no opposition. The Legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic.

A Little Jump from Fifty to Seventy-Five Thousand.

ATALANTA, Oct. 5. Official returns point to a probable Democratic majority of 75.000.

A Light Vote, but Heavy Majority—"Not a Freedman Was Elected."

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5. All the counties in this section heard from (official figures cannot be given) give Colquit, for Governor, in proportion to the vote cast, the largest majority ever given in this State. The vote was light. The Democrats defeated the Independents and Republicans for the Legislature in every case. Not a freedman was elected. This embraces a dozen counties.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5. Although the weather was not auspicious, Rhode Island Day was celebrated by a large attendance of officials and representative men of the State and a large number of her people. At 12 o'clock Gov. Lippitt and staff were received at the gates by the Centennial authorities and a large delegation of Rhode Islanders and escorted to the building of that State, which was handsomely decorated. Gov. Lippitt, standing on the front steps of the building, was introduced by President Hawley in a few appropriate remarks. Gov. Lippitt, responding, tendered the thanks of his State to the Centennial authorities and especially to the people of Philadelphia for making the Centennial grounds historic for years and perhaps for centuries to come. Many thousand people were afterwards severally welcomed by the Governor, and at the close of the reception the Gubernatorial party visited the Corliss engine in Machinery Hall and were welcomed by Commissioner Corliss. At one o'clock the number of persons admitted to the grounds was 63,540.

A FEW THINGS THAT WE KNOW. We know that a disordered stomach or liver produces more suffering than any other cause. We know that very few physicians are successful in their treatment of these disorders. We know that DaCosta's Radical Cure will, without the shadow of a doubt, almost immediately relieve and permanently cure all of these distressing symptoms. We know of thousands who are willing to testify that what we say is true to the letter. We know that if you will give it a fair trial you will let us add your name to the "cloud of witnesses." Will you give it a trial, and do it now? Trial size only 25c. Sold by Wm. E. Mann and J. F. Patten, Bangor. Folsom Bros., Oldtown. R. B. Stover and A. F. Page, Bucksport. Professor Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup is perfectly safe and extremely palatable. No physic required. Costs 25 cents. Try it. deow may26

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion, and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a billous tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by J. H. SCHENCK & SON.

THE MACHINE WAS WORN OUT.

Why? Not because it was not well built, but it was wrongly run. Thousands of men who have run down long before their threescore and ten years are accomplished, might have been renewed into sprightliness and vim if they had tried the well known PERUVIAN SYRUP, which contains among its compounds the Protoxide of Iron, so combined that it assimilates with the blood and invigorates the whole system. This syrup has proved efficacious in thousands of cases, and will do everybody good who uses it. All druggists keep it.

CHILDREN TEETHING
MRS. WINSLOW'S
SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething.
greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.
We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.
This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.
We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHOEA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE G. B. C.

A TALE OF A TELEGRAM

BY JAMES PAYN

I [illegible] a rule engage in commercial speculation but my dear friend Jones insisted with such eloquence upon the success that must indubitably follow upon the establishment of the Great Butter Company, which was formed for the manufacture of that commodity out of a material which shall be nameless but which was by no means so precarious and open to adulteration as cream, and the supply of which was practically inexhaustible—that I suffered the name of Martingale to appear, for a consideration, on the list of directors. It is a name well known in society, and was up to that time untainted by connection with trade unless, indeed, the sale of chargers—for which I will back myself against any cavalry officer in Her Majesty's service—may be considered by the pedantic as coming under that head. As for the city I know nothing more about it than that it was a locality lying east of Cox's, the army agent's, which was the limit of my personal experience in that direction. I have always breathed quite another atmosphere—that of Pall Mall. I wish I could say a purer one, but the fact is that the atmosphere of the smoking-rooms both at the Rag and the "Junior" are toward the small hours of the morning, when my own day is by no means finished, something appalling. I had three hundred a year for directing the Butter Company, and it was far easier work, I am bound to say, than were the old duties in my regiment, for which I was paid a precisely similar sum. Once a month the Chairman called for me in his brougham and deposited me at the office in Cornhill, where, after an excellent luncheon, (of which our butter formed no ingredient,) I attached my autograph to certain documents, a proceeding which I believe is technically termed passing the accounts. There were some persons of my acquaintance and profession—persons I have reason to believe who had themselves applied for directorships and failed—who did not scruple to call the Great Butter Company a slippery concern, and who affected to give me a hint to get out of it, but I was too well accustomed to the system of [illegible] to perceive their [illegible]. I listened to their joke [illegible] Martingale the man of business [illegible] returned from an expedition to Corn[illegible] even more than my usual [illegible] in my pocket—the director [illegible] for sticking to the Butter [illegible] the Butter would have stuck [illegible] not been of my own fault—it [illegible] fault—which was the most [illegible] piece of ill fortune that ever [illegible] through another [illegible] being too clever by half.

C.—as we who belonged to it were accustomed to call it [illegible] out of affection and euphony [illegible] I was concerned [illegible] about [illegible] benefits enemies [illegible] the butter [illegible] and it was necessary [illegible] considerably to get new [illegible] together the com[illegible] upon [illegible]

[illegible] to go down to [illegible] old [illegible] said I to one of them [illegible] I have liked a companion [illegible] then in well and is [illegible]

[illegible] P. Jove that is just what [illegible] the unexpected reply [illegible] year was the first according to [illegible] confession that he ever took [illegible] [illegible] cards in one of his own [illegible] You don't mean to say you [illegible] tell the story about his [illegible] Slowcombe telegram [illegible] [illegible] that I myself had [illegible] down to Slowcombe's, but I made up my mind from that moment that I would not go. I'm not a family man [illegible] respect myself. I hope as much as [illegible] and I wasn't going to be blown [illegible] by an old rhinoceros like that in [illegible] My difficulty was to find [illegible] for the other men's refusals—[illegible] own knowledge perhaps of why [illegible]—had made Slowcombe [illegible] and when I had hinted that I [illegible] quite sure of being with him on [illegible] he had made a allusion to the [illegible] of business between us, which [illegible] be equivalent to "play or pay"—[illegible] to Hampshire (for he lived among [illegible] hoppers) or settle my account. At last I hit upon a plan. He knew that I was connected with the Great Butter Company and had often sounded me as to [illegible] prospects but I could never persuade him to invest in it. "It is such a real good thing, you had better stick to it yourself, Martingale, and let nobody else in." I did not like the remark about letting people in, but I was not in a position to quarrel with Slowcombe. He parted from me on the [illegible] day but one of September, telling me he wanted twenty-four hours to get his [illegible] ready and impressing upon me the [illegible] train by which to start for Ploughshire on the morrow. The next morning (the 30th) I wrote him this letter from the Club:

My Dear Slowcombe: I am exceedingly sorry to disappoint you—and still more so to disappoint myself—but I regret to say that my proposed visit to you has been knocked on the head. The enclosed telegram will explain itself. Nothing but the most urgent business would have prevented my keeping my engagement, and I feel confident, from the ideas you have often expressed to me respecting the necessity of attending strictly to the G. B. C., I need no further apology for my absence. You will doubtless have many another gun with you and if the phrase of "the more the merrier" can be applied to pheasant shooting, that of "the fewer the better cheer" is certainly still more to the purpose. A fuller bag will, I hope, compensate for the absence of yours, most faithfully,

MARMADUKE MARTINGALE.

Then leaving the envelope open I proceeded to concoct the telegram.

From the Secretary of the Great Butter Company (Limited), Cornhill, to Marmaduke Martingale, Esq., Military, Naval and Militia Club, Pall Mall.—Defalcations have been discovered in the Company's accounts. I am therefore compelled to summon an extraordinary meeting of the Board of Directors for Wednesday next when your presence will be indispensable.

I gave this composition to the Club commissionaire, an active, intelligent fellow whom I had often employed, and sent him off to the nearest telegraph office. I calculated that it would return to me—in telegraphic form—in about a quarter of an hour at furthest. But as it happened, it did not. I had an engagement for that afternoon at Hurlingham, and was obliged to leave the Club before the arrival of the expected document. However as I knew it must come, and could place the utmost confidence in the porter, I left my letter with him, instructing him to place the telegram inside it as soon as it came to hand, and then to post it.

The next morning I found upon inquiry that this had been done, and thought no more about the matter. The day after a note, as I had expected, arrived from Slowcombe, the contents of which however I did not expect.

Sir: I am astonished that you should have the assurance to send me that telegram from your place of business. If you imagine because your Secretary has "bolted" and the "blessed concern," (as your friend terms what I had understood from you to be a sound commercial association) has "burst up" that I shall not be disposed to press for my hundred pounds you are very much mistaken. I have placed the matter in the hands of my solicitor and remain yours obediently,

THOMAS SLOWCOMBE.

Had I taken leave of my own senses, or had Slowcombe taken leave of his his? "Bolted," "burst up," "blessed concern?" No such words, I am sure, had ever been contained in my telegram. What on earth did it all mean? I did a thing which I had never done before except upon the first Monday in every month—I hurried to our place of business in the city as fast as a hansom could take me, and found the shutters up. The office of the G. B. C. was closed—just as though the company had been defunct. Upstairs however I found the Chairman looking at a heap of bills and gnawing his mustache.

"This is a pretty piece of work, Captain Martingale," said he, "and we have to thank you for it."

"To thank me," cried I. "What do you mean? Is everybody gone mad? I have done nothing—nothing."

"Perhaps you didn't send a telegram to our Secretary about defalcations. Here it is." And he tossed me over the message I had sent from the Secretary to myself—transposed. That respectable and intelligent commissioner had it seemed taken it for granted that I had made a mistake in sending a telegram to myself, and substituted the word "from" for "to" and "to" for "from." He thought doubtless he was doing a very clever thing, and one for which I should be much indebted to him.

The secretary really had it seems [illegible] in a small way and getting my telegram instead of my getting his he thought it was discovered, so laid his hands on everything he could, and decamped. It was the Chairman himself who had wired the news to me in that familiar style which had so incensed Slowcombe. Our Secretary has bolted, and the blessed concern has burst up.

The Great Butter Company, in fact, was nowhere thanks to my little device for avoiding pheasant shooting. The Secretary would probably never have fled but only have gone on defalcating slowly but for my alarming message, as it was, everything was precipitated including the compulsory payment of my debt to Slowcombe. It was altogether a miserable fiasco, and when I hear fellows talking about the splendid results of civilization and "Look at the electric telegraph, for example," and the corps of commissionaires, "I say to myself—but never mind what I say. I have told enough to make it understood why I should not agree with them.—Belgravia.

The cost of running this MOTOR is only for the consumption of water while the motor is in use.

We are ready to make contracts for furnishing Motors suitable for use and guaranteed to work fully up to the conditions agreed upon.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. and from [illegible] P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed with the writer's name, post office and State across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request as the expense is less and letters thus endorsed if not delivered to the person addressed are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $3.50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars. Stamped Envelopes spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Pre-paid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

NEWSPAPERS.

After January 1st 1875, all regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue. On weekly papers or those published oftener than once a week less frequently than once a week, three cents. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices. Papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County if delivered by carrier one cent each, prepaid by stamps.

Postage to Canada.—Same as in the States on letters and papers, pre-payment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz. postage 10 cents.

TRANSIENT PRINTED MATTER AND BOOKS AND MERCHANDISE.

Transient newspapers and magazines, regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes or for free circulation at nominal rates, and all printed matter of the third class except unsealed circulars shall be admitted to and be transmitted in the mails at the rate of one cent for every two ounces or fractional part thereof and one cent for each two additional ounces or fractional part thereof. And the sender of any article of the third class of mail matter may write his or her name or address therein or on the outside thereof with the word "from" above or preceding the same, or may write briefly or print on any package the number and names of the articles enclosed.
